

Gaussian process emulators with applications to Palaeo-climate simulations

JOCHEN VOSS<sup>1</sup>, Dario Domingo<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup>University of Leeds, UK

Abstract

Gaussian process emulators are an increasingly popular tool to interpolate between (costly) runs of climate models. We will discuss mathematical aspects of this method, with an eye towards applications in palaeo-climate modelling.