Master of Science 2021-2022 AY
Bocconi Applicants
Definition of "In corso" for selection purposes

Students are considered "In corso", for the purposes of admission to the Master of Science programs, if they are enrolled in their third year in the a.y. 2020-2021 and:

- Have enrolled for the first time in the university system in the a.y. 2018-2019 at Bocconi University, or
- Have enrolled for the first time in the university system in the a.y. 2018-2019 at another University, and enrolled at Bocconi in their second year in the a.y. 2019-2020 (e.g. students transferring from another University WITH recognition at Bocconi of credits acquired during the previous university experience), or
- Have enrolled for the first time in the university system on a date prior to the a.y. 2018-2019, at Bocconi University, or at another University, on condition that in the a.y. 2018-2019 they started the Bocconi career considered for the evaluation to the MSc Programs, and that they DID NOT benefit from a credits recognition from the previous university career. For example:
    - Students who transferred from another University who enrolled in their first year at Bocconi in the a.y. 2018-2019 WITHOUT recognition at Bocconi of credits acquired previously
    - Students with a first-level degree completed at another University who then enrolled at Bocconi in their first year in the a.y. 2018-2019 WITHOUT requesting credit recognition.

PLEASE NOTE: The status of "in corso" student for the purposes of admission to the Master of Science programs does not necessarily coincide with the student's status of "in corso" as defined by the administrative enrollment procedures for Bachelor of Science students.
