

BROADEN YOUR FRAME

ETHICS AND MORAL PHILOSOPHY

SEMINAR SERIES 2023-2024

The six seminars examine selected themes at the interface between the fields of Economics and Moral Philosophy. Roberto Fumagalli, Senior Lecturer and Director of the Public Policy Program at King's College London, will illustrate the role of specific moral concepts and values in areas of major Economic, Philosophical and Policy-making significance.

Roberto Fumagalli received his BA (2004) and MSc (2006) in Economic and Social Sciences from Bocconi University. He then completed both MSc (2007) and PhD (2011) in Philosophy at the London School of Economics. His research interests cover a wide range of areas, including Philosophy of Economics, Philosophy of Science, Moral and Political Philosophy, Philosophy and Public Policy.

He is Research Associate at the London School of Economics (since 2011) and Visiting Scholar at the University of Pennsylvania (since 2013). Over the years, he has been responsible for several courses at the undergraduate, graduate and postgraduate level across universities. In 2017, he was awarded the Prize for Teaching Excellence at the University of Bayreuth. From 2018 on, he has been nominated for multiple Teaching Excellence Awards at King's College London.

---

8 APRIL 2024 | 6:15-7:45PM
Room N15 Piazza Sraffa 13
RATIONALITY

---

9 APRIL 2024 | 6:15-7:45PM
Room N15 Piazza Sraffa 13
WELL-BEING

---

11 APRIL 2024 | 6:15-7:45PM
Room N15 Piazza Sraffa 13
UTILITY

---

12 APRIL 2024 | 1:00-2:30PM
Room N15 Piazza Sraffa 13
MARKETS AND MORALS

---

15 APRIL 2024 | 6:15-7:45PM
Room N15 Piazza Sraffa 13
LIBERTARIAN PATERNALISM

---

16 APRIL 2024 | 6:15-8:15PM
Room N15 Piazza Sraffa 13
CLIMATE CHANGE + FINAL ASSIGNMENT